

Communion Meditation for 4-5-20

Nancy Gooding

At the beginning of this year I welcomed 2020 as a year of perfect vision. I prayed that my spiritual vision would increase and that I would be more attuned to seeing things as God sees them.

Like you, I never dreamed that part of my seeing and growing spiritually would involve the pandemic of the Corona virus. Although I know God did not bring this, I also know He is using it. People who seldom acknowledge a need for God in their life are realizing that we as a country and as a world need supernatural intervention.

Yesterday I saw a report on television that said 75% of people polled confessed they were praying for an answer. Some of the people polled said praying had not been a regular part of their life in the past but fear and dread prompted them to turn to God.

Although I realize God's word says that the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom, it also says in God's word that the goodness of God is what leads people to repentance.

I'm praying that those who do not know or understand the goodness of God will come to realize that it is in His goodness that He answers our prayers. I'm praying that although the fear may drive them to seek God in the beginning, that the fear will not be the end but only the crack in their consciousness of who God is and how much we all need him.

We are in a war against evil. Satan wants to use this virus to destroy us, but we must continue to believe that the way the Devil planned to destroy us will actually be used for all of our good.

As we think on these things and commune alone in our homes let's be thankful for the communion of the saints that cannot be stopped by physical distance. We are one in Spirit and more one than we were before this terrible attack. People of different denominations and political views are finally praying for the same thing. People all over the planet are crying out to God for answers. And in the name of our Savior and our Lord Jesus Christ let us pray as one from the cry of our heart.

Heavenly Father we come to you in the name of your Son, Jesus Christ. We add our voices to those who are praying for changed hearts and for physical answers. We pray in one accord that your purposes and plans will win over this terrible attack from the enemy. We pray for those who have lost loved ones to be comforted. We pray for safety and wisdom for doctors, nurses and all people working towards the defeat of this terrible, evil plan. We pray for financial answers for those who have lost their source of income. We thank you ahead of time for what you are doing for us.

In Jesus name,
Amen
